Political Party Symbol

A political party is an organization of people sharing similar ideas about how to govern a nation, state, and/or community. There are several political parties in the United States today. The two with the most members are the Republican Party and the Democratic Party.

Political parties try to get their members elected to federal, state, and local offices. They raised money to pay for election campaigns and supply and organize workers to help their candidates.

Political parties have symbols that stand for them. For example, the symbols of the Republican and Democratic parties are animals, the elephant and the donkey.

Make up a name for a political party. Write it here : _____

On the back of this paper create a symbol for your political party. Be creative. Try to create a symbol that represents something you believe in.
